

Join the Fair Labor Association: Amplify workers' voices and hold companies accountable

For 25 years, the Fair Labor Association (FLA) has worked toward a future where responsible business means that fair working conditions are the standard, not the exception. We are an international network of universities, companies, and civil society organizations (CSOs) collaborating to ensure that millions of people working at the world's factories and farms are paid fairly and protected from risks to their health, safety, and well-being.

One of the most important components of FLA's multistakeholder model is the CSO Caucus, which ensures that a strong worker voice informs our strategy, program development, and decision-making. This diverse group of members leads an ongoing consultation process with the CSO community worldwide, emphasizing the points of view of labor unions and labor rights, human rights, consumer, faith based, and other public interest organizations that focus on or implement specific initiatives promoting workers' rights. In addition, CSO Caucus members may choose to join FLA's Board of Directors for a three-year term to provide further input on FLA policies and procedures.
